Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 04 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold and often cloudy with showers, some wintry.

Today:
Generally cloudy with some scattered showers throughout the day, these wintry at times bringing some snow, mainly over the hills. The far southwest of the country is likely to see some sunshine during the morning. Feeling cold with brisk winds. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
Similar conditions continuing as it remains cloudy and windy across the country, with scattered showers. Clear spells possible in the south during the evening. Feeling colder than of late. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Tuesday:
Dry and cloudy for most, with the odd shower possible in some areas. The best of any sunny spells will be in the south. Breezy and feeling cold. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Mostly dry on Wednesday, with some showers and light winds. Some wet and possibly wintry weather on Thursday. Largely dry on Friday with possible ice and freezing fog. Remaining cold.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.